Baccalaureate heads the calendar of events during the coming graduation week at George Fox college. The service will feature Dean Donald McNichols as speaker and will be held in the Newberg Friends church Sunday, May 31, at 3 p. m. Dean McNichols was elected by unanimous vote of the faculty to speak, and has revealed that the theme of his message will be the "Pursuit of Wisdom."

Immediately following the baccalaureate service, the seniors will be guests of honor at a traditional tea, held this year by Dean McNichols and his wife.

The following Thursday evening, June 4, is senior class night, at which time the seniors will present a final program to their schoolmates and friends in Wood-Mar hall auditorium.

On Friday, June 5, the commencement will be held in Wood-Mar auditorium. Speaker for the service is Dr. Harry Dillin, president of Linfield college in McMinnville. Dr. Dillin also holds the positions of president of the Oregon Association of Independent Colleges, 1953; president, Oregon Baptist Convention, 1953; and chairman, Oregon College Foundation, 1953.

He has traveled extensively in the Orient, visiting Asia, Arabia, and particularly the Holy Land. He has also visited the iron curtain countries in central Europe recently.

As the co-editor of a college textbook, Modern Economics, published by the Dryden Press and currently used in sixty-five leading colleges and universities throughout the country, Dr. Dillin is now at work on forthcoming collateral publications, sponsored by the American Economic and Business council and designed to combat Communism by positive interpretation of the American economy.

He is quite prominent in the Rotary club, and has been featured speaker in several conventions besides having served for many years in various offices of the club.

Dr. Dillin received his B.A. degree from Bard college of Columbia University. He has also received an M.A. degree from the University of North Carolina, an M.A. degree from the University of Michigan, an LL.D. degree from the University of Redlands, and Seminar Studies at the University of London.

Mr. McNeely reported that he has accepted a position on the teaching staff of Northwest Nazarene college in Nampa, Idaho. This summer he plans to work toward his doctorate at the University of Oregon.

Dean Donald McNichols gave a short talk using "leadership" as his topic. He summarized a survey conducted by Time magazine in November, 1951, on attitudes of American youth and indicated that the youth of today face a great responsibility of leadership. Dean McNichols gave several essentials for leadership and concluded his talk by saying that "leadership is not a position but an opportunity."

Outgoing president Ralph Beebe spoke a few words of appreciation for the cooperation given during the past year by the officers and members of the Associated Students. He then presented the gavel to Verne Martin, who spoke briefly and dismissed the meeting.

Yvonne Hubbard, Bob Byrd Co-Star In 'The Magic Flute'

Yvonne Hubbard as Pamina, and Bob Byrd as Tamino, will co-star in "The Magic Flute," spring production of the Actors' club of George Fox college.

"The Magic Flute," an opera by Mozart, will mark the first time opera has appeared on the stage of Wood-Mar auditorium. Presentation will be May 29 and 30.

Setting of the opera is Egypt in the ancient time of Rameses I. The temple of Isis sets the locale.

The plot of the opera centers around the search of Tamino, a prince, for his lover, Princess Pamina, daughter of the Queen of the Night. Pamina has been stolen from him by Sarastro, the High Priest. Tamino is able to find Pamina through the aid of a magical flute given him by the Queen of the Night. The search, the find, and the possessing of Pamina by Tamino carries out the story.

Main supporting characters are Marilyn Barnes as Papagena, Marian Perry as Papagena, Rosetta Ballard as Queen of the Night, Dick Zeller as Sarastro and Arnold Lee as Monostatos. Nearly twenty other characters appear; their parts are taken by music students and choir personnel.

Co-directing the opera are Mrs. Lydia McNichols and Miss Margaret Shattuck. The script used is a cut English version of Mozart's German opera, "Die Zauberflöte."

Fourfold Power . . .

When an academy pupil I remember reading on the margin of my report card these words: "Knowledge Is Power." We all admire power whether mechanical, physical, intellectual or spiritual. Power may be useful or harmful; constructive or destructive.

Let us consider for a moment fourfold power: power over things, power over men, power over self, power with God.

We live in a material world, but "If materialism is our god, it is useless to pray for peace." If things become the aim of our life, they soon dominate us and we become their slaves. We need power over things either to use them for our good, or to make of our lives what they should be even without them if that is necessary. Any one can obtain an education if they have money, but it takes a real man or woman to secure an education without it.

We live in the midst of people—the world is full of them. Let us seek power over men, not to use them, or exploit them for our own ends; but to help them to be better men and women, inspiring them to attain the best of which they are capable, and above all leading them to God.

Power over self. He that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city. We often think of power over self, or self control, as a restraining force to keep us from doing evil. That is a very important phase of power over self. Power over self is also positive. Power to make yourself do what you ought to do: power to hold yourself to a difficult lesson or a disagreeable task till it is done, in spite of allurements. We do need power over self.

The fourth element is power with God. Elijah had it. He prayed earnestly that it might not rain and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months. Again he prayed and the heaven gave rain. The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. Power with God is attainable. It is the highest attainment in the realm of human power. It may be ours if we live in complete harmony with God.

CHARLES HAWORTH,
Assistant Professor of Spanish

Our Prime Objective . . .

Many times we at George Fox have been challenged by faculty and other speakers to take full advantage of our schooling.

"It is your duty as a Christian to do so," is an often repeated phrase and a very true one.

However in these troubled times we have a responsibility to Christ and to our country as well.

"Why should pranksters be in school," people have asked, "When other young men are fighting and dying in Korea for their freedom!"

It is a good question and one that can only be answered with a positive, "They shouldn't be!"

College should not be a haven for draft dodgers. It is the responsibility of every student to work the best he can while at school, for many are there because Uncle Sam is exempting them from military duty.

As the school year draws to a close there are a multitude of things that must be done by every student. Yet we must keep in mind that we came to school to learn, and that should be our prime objective.

'Adventure,' Life Theme of Julia Pearson, Who Taught on Mission Fields 20 Years

By Bob Byrd

"In journeying often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine own countrymen, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren.

"In weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst—"

—II Corinthians 11, 26-27

This quotation from the Bible could serve as the life story of Mrs. Julia Pearson, art instructor at George Fox college and former missionary to the Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends work in Bolivia.

Teaching is no new job to Mrs. Pearson. She has taught for 20 years on mission fields in Guatemala and Bolivia.

Mrs. Pearson, who has attended Pacific college (now GFC), Cascade college and Huntington-park training school, received her B.A. from the National Institute of Guatemala. She also received two years of private training in art and a year in the art institute of Portland.

While serving on the Guatemala field, Julia taught missionary children, served as supervisor of a girls' school and taught Spanish, zoology, physics and botany in a normal school. She also taught Old Testament, voice, speech and the life of Christ in the mission Bible school.

Preached for Eleven Years

After five years in Central America, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pearson (he is now the treasurer of GFC) went to Bolivia where Julia preached on the field for 11 years. Later Mrs. Pearson organized and taught in a mission Bible school for four years. Mr. Pearson acted as business manager for the mission.

Julia met Howard Pearson toward the close of World War I. Mr. Pearson went to France with the American Friends Service Committee after the war and shortly after his return Howard and Julia were married.

The Pearsons finished their schooling together and with their baby son, Paul, who later died of tetanus, went to Guatemala. Don Pearson, a sophomore at GFC, was born while the Pear-sons served on this field.

Many Hardships Faced

Throughout their 20 years of service, the Pearsons have undergone many hardships. They have been in a hurricane and an earthquake.

They have been stoned many times and were often the target for rotten eggs.

Julia was threatened with a long knife by a witch doctor and was shot at by drunken celebrants.

"Living on the George Fox college campus is very different from what we are used to," says Mrs. Pearson, "but Howard and I have enjoyed serving in the school very much."

Sermonette

By Harold Weesner

It is undoubtedly the desire of every earnest Christian that his life have a positive influence upon other people with whom he may have a greater or lesser degree of contact. However there is no tried and proven technique which will operate for all individuals or even for the same person in all situations.

In speaking of himself in I Corinthians 9:19-22 Paul stated that he being free made himself servant unto all that he might gain the more. He went on to say that to different classes such as those under the law, those without law, and the weak, he became as one of their own group. Here we may infer that Paul recognized personal contact as an important factor in his own ministry.

Personal contact on such a basis does not condone becoming a part of any class but rather only becoming as one of the group. This leaves no place for antagonistic and critical attitudes which would set up apart in the thinking of any group.

It is the person who becomes mutually respected for what he believes and consistently practices who will have the greatest influence upon his contacts even though an opportunity for verbal expression may never come. If such opportunity for verbal expression does present itself it is still the person of past friendly contact who will have the greatest influence.

Writer Complains of 'The Evening After'

By Marjorie Larrance

Gerald Geugenhammer dragged listlessly toward the door of his room. By sheer will power he slid his aching feet a little farther and clutched the door knob. After deciding which muscle group to use, he sent a slow jerky message to his befuddled brain which responded with a slow motion muscle contraction that resulted in the opening of the door. (Yes, you've guessed it, Gerald had been on the senior sneak—or maybe it was the all night junior vigil.)

As the door swung tiredly open, horror seized Gerald. For the first time during the year he could see his room. The narrow path that had been the thoroughfare between furniture and general equipment had widened amazingly. It now extended from wall to wall. The seniors had nothing on Gerald's furniture; his bed and other properties also had "sneaked." The room was absolutely bare except for the piles of dirt

Pat and Jim

"Somebody get the phone."
"I'll get it . . . Kanyon hall . . . just a minute, I'll call her. Pat . . . telephone, Jim's calling."
"Hello, Kanyon hall. Pat? No, I'm sorry, she and Jim have gone to Salem for the afternoon."
"Long distance, please . . . Hello . . . freshmen and sophomores? We're at the Junior-Senior banquet in Salem; just called to read a little card to you:
"Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Keppinger announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to James DeLapp."

that had been covered by the bed. (Those sloppy, sloppy, juniors; one would suppose they could at least clean up the place.)

If there had been a chair, Gerald would have slumped onto it to recuperate and try to cultivate a forgiving spirit, but since there was none, he courageously began a search for his valuable belongings.

As he staggered down the front steps he turned to look skyward and there perched precariously astride the dorm roof was his bed, all neatly made. He decided to go to bed at once and glanced about for a ladder. Not seeing one he lost his enthusiasm and struggled over to the library where he found Myrtle's picture beside the literature on prehistoric life. Blankets, and clothes were draped artistically from the windows and among the clutter Gerald recognized his sport coat and a few other items. Gathering up what he could carry he trudged back toward his room where he deposited his burden in the middle of the floor. Then he was off on another expedition. After several hours of frantic searching for his worldly goods, Gerald Geugenhammer was utterly exhausted.

When he returned to his room with the last load of his possessions a satisfied sigh escaped his lips as he surveyed his abode. The room had begun to take on its normal confused appearance. Gerald looked longingly at a pile of blankets and collapsing upon them in an unconscious heap, he began a delirious dream of a utopia where there were no senior sneak days or sneaking juniors.

Noteworthy News Nuggets

By Betty Brown

Only three more weeks of school. Did I hear you sigh? Three weeks seems like a short time, but a number of activities are planned for coming days. This issue of The Crescent reveals that fact. Since May day, the calendar has been full with recitals, choir banquet, senior sneak, baseball and softball games. But, just to reiterate a moment, many things weren't on the calendar—those personal interest items. We'll dash over a few of them.

Hamptons Visit Campus

Norma Jean and Bill Hampton, former GF students, with their young daughter visited the campus recently. Bill has been discharged from the US army where he was teaching at Camp Pickett, Virginia.

Gene Comfort Travels to Canada

Junior Gene Comfort, with his employer, Ross Gulley, moved former GF president, Emmett Gulley to his new home near Nelson, Canada. Mr. Gulley is employed by the Canadian government as a mediator between them and the Doukhobors in Canada. While there, Gene saw some of the 23 houses burned in the last month by the radical group, the Sons of Freedom; met the leaders of the Othodox group; attended a heated meeting of the Canadians and the Doukhobors; and watched a parade celebrating the return of one of their leaders from Russia.

Mrs. Anna Ballard on Campus

Rosetta Ballard's mother, Mrs. Anna Ballard, arrived last week from Plains, Kansas. She and Rosetta have moved to an apartment of Isaac Smith's, campus maintenance man. Mrs. Ballard plans to stay in Newberg until school is out. After that plans are uncertain.

Seniors Get "Sneaky"

The seniors "snuck" and (need we say) the juniors followed. The seniors made it a little unhandy however by leaving the campus Sunday evening and spending the night at various spots in Portland. Some of the juniors overcame the circumstances and spent a sleepless night doing a little investigation. They came quite close to catching the seniors, but "a miss is as good as a mile," they say.

This sunny weather has done something to all of us, it seems. If you are one of the minority who feel like doing something these days and can't find someone to do it with you, look on the lawn. They'll be there.

Cupid's Corner

As on every other campus across the country Daniel Cupid has been working overtime at George Fox college.

Darwin "Cubby" Grimm, freshman from Lewiston, Idaho, plans the trip to the altar with Gwen Nichols, his hometown sweetheart, on June 2, in Lewiston.

Darwin reports that they will return to the GFC campus next fall.

Ralph Beebe and former student Wanda Pierson will be married in Star, Idaho, on June 8.

The first Friends church of Portland will be the scene of the union of Ellen Haines and Verne Martin. Ellen is a frosh from Portland and Verne, a junior from Newberg, is the newly elected Associated Student president.

Danny Barham, a senior from Salem, will marry Betty Satter, Salem, on September 4, in Salem.

Danny plans to start teaching. Two other marriages are set for a year later in the summer of '54. Norman Winters, a sophomore from Greenleaf and Margaret Weber, a senior from Greenleaf, plan to unite in August.

Ardeh Beals, a freshman from Portland and Victor Pike, a freshman from Cascade college in Portland, will marry in June.

Five GF Students Make Top Grades; Senior, Junior, Three Freshmen Head List

Dorothy Oppenlander, 3.43, Clinton Brown, 3.13, Lavelle Robison, 3.13, Orville Winters, 3.06, and Muriel Hoover, 3.00.

Freshmen following Ardeth, Arnold, and Jo Anne are Ellen Haines, 3.54, Nancy Trautman, 3.23, Velda Leach, 3.15, Marcille Fankhauser, 3.08, and Robert Byrd and Dorothy Gimbel, 3.00.

Special student, Dwight Huss, was also on the honor list with a 4.00 grade point average.

Choir Banquets May 8

Redmond's on the Hill in West Portland, was the scene for the formal choir banquet on Friday night, the eighth of May. A four-course baked ham dinner was served to the members of the choir and their guests in an atmosphere of candle light and a soft musical background.

Mrs. Lydia McNichols, director of the choir, was in charge of the program. After a few explanatory remarks she announced that she would not be directing the choir next year. She then presented Mr. John Fankhauser, who has traveled with the choir for two years. He commented briefly on the contributions which the choir has made to the college and challenged the group to continue the work it has been doing.

Mr. Carl Reed showed slide pictures of South America, Hawaii, and George Fox college scenes, suggesting how one could spend a summer vacation.

Mrs. McNichols concluded the program with the challenge that "We should pray as though everything depended on God, and work as though everything depended on us."

Chandler, Brown Win Horseshoe Tournament

May Day activities included the culmination of the annual horseshoe tournament.

In the women's division Melda Chandler emerged victorious in singles competition against Enid Briggs. Due to the lack of entrants no women's doubles were held.

The men's division saw Clint Brown win over Bob Fiscus in the singles. The doubles event was won by Roger Stephen and Jack Hoskins over Dave Elliott and Dick Zeller.

In the mixed doubles Yvonne Hubbard and Jerry Carr have yet to meet Joyce Hoover and Roger Stephen to decide the champion of that division.

Greenleaf Seniors Attend May Day

The Greenleaf academy seniors took their senior sneak here to George Fox college to see the May Day festivities. The sneakers arrived here about 3 a. m. Saturday and stayed until Monday morning. The 20 students were housed in the dorms with many GFC students donating a sheet or a blanket to the cause.

Accompanying the seniors were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cadd, former GFC students now instructor at the academy, and Miss Charlotte Macy.

Senior Class Sneaks Down the River

Sixteen happy-go-lucky GFC seniors, leaving behind the cares of studies here Monday, May 11, executed the traditional senior sneak with an all-day cruise on the Columbia and Willamette rivers.

Staying in and around Portland Sunday night, the seniors met at the docks of the K and R Marine Co., on the Columbia river, just north of Jantzen Beach, at 7:30 a. m. Monday morning. The 42-foot cabin cruiser weighed anchor at 8:00 a. m., drifted down to Sauvie's Island, below Vancouver, Washington, and turned up the Willamette river to Oregon City.

At Anchorage, on the way to Oregon City, the seniors disembarked for a snack and a telephone call of good wishes to the juniors. After a look at the Oregon City Falls, the skipper cast anchor a little below the town while the seniors lunched.

The crew of sunburned seniors docked at the home port at 5:00 p. m. On the way back to Newberg, they stopped at Washington Park in Portland for awhile, arriving at the college at 7:00 p. m.

Some of the juniors, hoping to sail as a dark cloud into the seniors' sky of bliss, failed to mar their happiness, and ended up in Battleground, Washington, on a false lead.

Choir to Appear At Youth-for-Christ

The George Fox college a cappella choir is scheduled to make three appearances this week-end. Tomorrow night, May 16, they will sing two numbers at Portland Youth for Christ and then combine with the other choirs participating for one mass number. At 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon the Quaker singers will present a full concert at Oak Park Friends church in Camas, Washington. At 7:30 that evening the choir will sing at First Friends in Portland.

The final concert of the year is set for 7:30 p. m., May 24 at Piedmont Friends in Portland.

On May 3 the choir was at South Salem Friends in the afternoon and at a city-wide service at Philomath EUB church in the evening.

May 9 the Oregon FMF-IVCF Conferette on the GFC campus heard the choir sing several numbers. Sunday evening, May 10, a concert was given at the Mountain Home EUB church.

SPORTS SIDELIGHTS

By Ron Barnick

This season's Quaker baseballers, with only five lettermen back from 1952's two-won, three-lost club, surprisingly have developed into one of the better ball teams in recent years at GFC.

Starting out with no regular pitcher returning, a big vacancy at shortstop, and only one veteran outfielder back, the team as a whole has shown up well this spring despite a lack of manpower. Only twelve men have responded regularly to this year's baseball call, although others are interested.

Coach Barney McGrath has the boys working for wins, and they are responding—to the extent of six victories thus far. Possibilities exist for the addition of one or two more games yet to the schedule.

Noticeable at this time is the dependable hitting of brothers Leland and Clint Brown, both outfielders. Clint, second sacker Sammy Andrews, and first-baser Verne Martin are the bi-spectacled members of the squad. Interestingly enough, Coast Leaguers Eddie Basinski, Jack Salvesson, Eddie Raimondi, and others have also proved the value of wearing glasses during participation in sports.

Both pitchers Lefty Darwin "Cub" Grimm and Don Lamm, a righthander, look good in action. Lamm and Verne Martin are doing well alternating at shortstop.

Statistics can be somewhat deceptive but comparative scores unbelievably rate this year's Quaker nine on a par with the OSC Rooks. The Rookies, Oregon State's baseball parallel to the Halbrook and Company freshmen basketballers, have this term split a two-game series with the Linfield junior varsity. Our fellows hold 2-0 and 10-4 triumphs over these same Linfield JV's. If such could be arranged, a Rook-Quaker contest would certainly prove interesting, as well as good advertising of George Fox college. Baseball is a sport that actually gives opportunity for smaller schools under good coaching the chance to equal big competition, providing they develop team ability and good work habits.

Quaker Nine Rolls Over Linfield JV; Win Contest at McMinnville, 10-4

The George Fox college baseball nine Monday captured their sixth consecutive game of the 1953 campaign, topping Linfield's JV's 10-4 at McMinnville. Catcher Dick Zeller, with three hits in four trips, led GFC batsmen, followed by Sammy Andrews, Don Lamm, Cub Grimm, Clint Brown, and Rog Stephen with additional bingos.

On the hill, fast baller Don Lamm pitched his second win of the season in as many starts.

George Fox took an early second inning lead, scoring three counters on connections by Zeller, Grimm, and Stephen, an over-throw, and a base on balls.

First baseman Sanford and short-patcher Shaw, however, notched round-trippers.

Coach McGrath's men earlier this spring blanked the Kittens 2-0 here in Newberg.

Brown Leads GFC To 15-3 Victory Over Concordia

With a perfect day at the bat, sophomore Clint Brown May 8 paced the George Fox Quakers to a 15-3 triumph over Concordia's Cavaliers on the local diamond. Clint, Quaker center fielder, chalked up a double and a trio of singles in his four appearances at the dish.

Keystone man Sammy Andrews and pitcher Cub Grimm each collected a pair of hits, while Verne Martin, Dave Elliott, Leland Brown and Dick Zeller got lone blows. Lefty Grimm whiffed ten opposing swatsmen to take his fourth contest of the year.

The big Quaker inning was the sixth when ten men batted, tallying six scorers, on two-basers by Clint Brown and Sam Andrews, a single by chucker Grimm, and pairs of enemy errors, balks, and walks.

GFC previously edged the Luth-erans 5-4 in Portland April 30.
